

Kia ora e te whanau

What a fantastic day we had on Saturday. It was wonderful seeing you, however, we were more excited to see our children. T'was great food for the soul.

Day One of Distance Learning is due to start soon. We think we may have a couple of minor hiccups, however, the majority of classes will be amped for 9am this morning. By now you should have heard via Seesaw from your classroom teacher or Teacher Aide. The goal is to have all learning for the next day up by 5pm the previous day. Hopefully, this gives families time to organise their next day the night before. We understand that balancing working from home, Distance Learning, organising a family, finding 'YOU time, and preparing for the next while can be an incredibly stressful time.

You will have a far bit of communication coming out from Postgate School. Lessons learned from last time was that there was soooo much. So, my "long and interesting emails" will not be every day. I'll try to make them short and to the point.

A message from Whaea Maureen:

Due to popular demand, I will resume my ako Maori lessons on my Facebook page (link below). I will be posting between 2 & 3pm daily. I am also considering a "live" on Friday afternoons 2-3pm. More information to follow.

If there are any problems, concerns, or worries please let me your child's teacher, Kelvin, or I know. In my opinion, we may be in Distance Learning for at least the next three weeks and we may also find that our Term 3 holidays are brought forward a few weeks earlier. Just me trying to think ahead. The better we prepare ourselves for Distance Learning, the better off we'll be and hopefully, our personal levels of stress/anxiety remain low.

The bell for Day 1 starts soon. Very exciting! Coffee time.

Catch up soon
